Five Points West Business Association Gives Back to Community; Supports and Participates in National Night Out

Note: Birmingham Police Chief A.C. Roper should be at the Five Points West Event at 5pm.

The Five Point West Business Association is participating and lending their support to “National Night Out” in its 25th year celebration tonight at the Five Points West Library located at 2228 Bessemer Road from 5-8pm.

Tonights event will include food, children’s games and stories, live music and good family fun.

The event was established as a way for residents to “take back their neighborhoods” from criminals and is celebrated throughout the country.

“The Five Points West Business Association is excited to be a part of National Night Out! We are coming out to let the residents in the area know that we are here to work as a team and make the Five Points West area the best it can be,” said Five Points West Business Association President Madison Carter.

The Five Points West Business Association established as an Alabama nonprofit in early 2008. The organization was developed after interest in the area peaked with the possibility of new development coming to the area. The association has a membership in excess 25 businesses, nonprofits and neighborhood associations interested in working together to make the Five Points West area the best it can be.
